IRVINE JINXES BLUE SOX, 9-7 IN SECOND GAME

Deciding Game To Be Played Sunday At Beattyville

Irvine "jinxed" West Liberty's Blue Sox again Sunday at Irvine 9 to 7 to tie their play-off series at 1-1.

Clarence Black's Blue Sox had won the opener here a week earlier, 11-1, after losing four straight games to the Estill countians during the regular season's Bluegrass League play.

The deciding game of the three-game play-off series will be played next Sunday on a neutral field—at Beattyville. This contest will decide the eastern division championship of the Bluegrass League.

West Liberty batsmen pounded Irvine's pitcher for 13 hits but fielding errors at the critical points counted heavily in the Blue Sox's loss.

Freddie Blair with two tripples was the leading batsman for the Morgan countians. And Merle Nickell, Billy Ratliff and Dudley Caudill each got two hits.

Richie Stacy twirled for the Blue Sox and Jim Kiser for Irvine. Big Steve Hamilton will be back on the mound for the Blue Sox in their final game at Beattyville next Sunday.

Winner of the Irvine-West Liberty contest will meet Harrodsburg, Western division champs, in a League play-off series later.

The price per head of stock is $3.00.

There will be another article in the next week's paper telling the place and time the clinics will be held.

FLU VACCINE TO BE RECEIVED 15TH

West Liberty doctors will receive vaccine for Asiatic flu on Sept. 15, after which it will be available to the public, stated a local physician Thursday. The vaccine will be distributed only through physicians and will not be available through the health department or government agencies.

Dr. H. B. Murray was out of town Thursday and could not be reached, but a nurse at the West Liberty Hospital said the hospital had ordered the vaccine.

Dr. Alec Spencer of Guillett and Spencer Clinic said the clinic was scheduled to receive 300 doses of the vaccine on Sept. 15. All doctors who order the vaccine, said Dr. Spencer, will receive part of their allotment by the 15th and within a week or two all the vaccine that will be wanted or needed.

Dr. Spencer added that there was no cause for alarm over the incidence of Asiatic flu in this area, but said the vaccine was a precaution against an epidemic. "Our old-fashioned type of flu is just as severe," he stated "and we give three or four hundred immunizations a year for the old type flu prevalent in this area."

NORTH CAROLINA COMPANY TO BUY MOUNTAIN CROPS

Aromatic Tobacco Crops Averaged 76c Last Year

West Liberty has been selected as the site for the first sale of aromatic type (Turkish) tobacco in Kentucky this season.

The sale will be held Oct. 15 in the old gymnasium near the Morgan County High School for crops grown in four mountain counties—Morgan, Elliott, Magoffin and Floyd.

Tagging, weighing and grading of the Turkish leaf will start at 7:30 a.m. and the sale will start at 8. The general public may attend the sale. Morgan County Extension Agent Carl Sinclair said. Sinclair will be in charge of arrangements.

Seven farmers in the four counties produced Turkish tobacco this season on contract with the Southeastern Aromatic Tobacco Company of North Carolina, which will have buyers here to purchase the crops.

Farmers will be paid for their leaf on the spot and there will be no selling charge, Sinclair said. The West Liberty sale will be the second in Kentucky. Last year's sale was held at Paintsville.

Eighteen Kentucky farmers are producing Turkish tobacco this year. In Northeastern Kentucky there are seven growers, two in Morgan, three in Magoffin and one each in Elliott and Floyd. Ira Massie, tobacco specialist with the Kentucky Experiment Station, estimates the four counties will send between 4,000 to 5,000 pounds to the West Liberty sale.

Unlike burley, no government allotment is needed to grow aromatic type tobacco. Most of the Kentucky crops are grown in the mountain counties and production averages from 800 to 1,200 pounds per acre. The crop brought an average of 75c a pound last year, ranging from 40c to 1.25 according to grade.

Morgan's two growers of aromatic tobacco this season are Charles Walter of Nickell and Harold Rose and Elbert Taulbee of Ezel.

T. F. Green of near Sandy Hook is Elliott's producer. He harvested a crop of 1,200 pounds from

FLORRESS— NORA'S SYMPATHY WITH HURT FLIES

FLORRESS, Ky., Sept. 10—(By Nora Easterling)—I have heard if you kill one fly you will come to take its place. More flies do come, but why? During the hot and dry days last week flies got to disturbing my kitchen work. I began spitting them down with a fly flop. Soon I had a nice sprinkle of dead and wounded flies on my kitchen floor. Not one could be seen flying about. I left the kitchen for a few minutes. When I returned the floor was covered with an army of flies. Disgusted, I sat down and watched them. One fly would come in and light by a wounded fly. With his front feet he would raise up the head of the wounded fly and begin to blow. If the wounded fly could move, the helping fly would sing out and two more flies would come and one on each side of the wounded fly would lift up his wings and blow. If the fly had the wounded fly pasted to the floor, the fly at his head would sing out till a fourth helper would come and clean away the litter. When the wounded fly could stand on his feet they all began to dance up and down; then all would fly away together. This stopped me from swatting flies. I really wished I could help them. So, not only two flies came for me, but two or three nurses too.

Rev. and Mrs. Walter Easterling attended church at West Liberty Mission Wednesday night. This mission is a place of service where many widowed and orphaned attend including Pleas Johnson, Oscar Paton, Claude Johnson, Sam Endicott, John Vance, Mrs. Nan Johnson, Mrs. Ruth Johnson, Mrs. McKenzie and a large number of orphan children.

Rev. Walter Easterling opened service by a talk and prayer, then preaching by the Revs. Bob McClure, Jesse Smith and Walter Easterling, and singing by the Mission children and prayer by Josh Endicott.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Conley took their son William Curtis to King's Daughters' Hospital at Ashland for a checkup. He was diagnosed a well boy and ready to enter his first year of school.

Mrs. Anos Conley, who taught school for around 20 years, Lacey Creek, has started teaching the fourth grade at the new Wells Hill school. Jerry Wells of West Liberty is teaching at Lacey Creek this term.

Everyone is busy priming, topping, suckering, cutting, hauling and hanging tobacco in Flor-ress community. Water is getting low, but this is fine weather to house tobacco.

Alden Collins of Blairs Mills came and remeasured our ground where we had destroyed excess tobacco and had us destroy 1 half 100th 10th more. Mr. Collins lives near the Easterlings at Blairs Mills and reported Robert Easterling and Curtis Easterling as the oldest ones in the community. He said he didn't know where his parents got his name Alden. Our granddaughter Peggy Sue Williams, said: "They got it from Alden's catalogue."

Peggy Sue Williams of Fairborn, Ohio, spent two weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. Flossie Williams. While there she visited Rev. and Mrs. Arlie Nickell, Mrs. Nan Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Reb McClure and Carol, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Nickell, Mrs. Anos Conley and Aquila, Mrs. Dessie Brown of West Liberty, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Conley, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Easterling, Rev. and Mrs. Walter Easterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Potter of near West Liberty came to Hon-cymoon Hollar and bought the old courting and honeymooning truck of James C. Conley. It had been dumped as an antique. Mrs. Potter said she had canned over 200 quarts of beans this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Cottle of Cottle visited Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Easterling and Dora Sept. 1.

Whitt Goes Back to Boyhood Farm; Sees It Growing Up--Philosophizes

Whitt Finds Single Live Chestnut Tree In 4-Day Wandering

(By Bernard E. Whitt)

I spent four days last week in the woods hunting squirrels, slipping up branches, climbing hills and crawling through the bushes. I have seen several hunters. I always whistle and then they whistle back. This keeps them from taking me for a squirrel and is a good way to get acquainted.

One day was spent in the hills where I grew up as a boy. It had been fifty years since I hunted and killed squirrels there. On the ridge back of the Jeff Lewis chestnut orchard the old hickory trees stand. Some hunter had beat me to them and I saw three blue shells.

The chestnut trees were all gone--all but one. The blight had killed them. I saw only one chestnut in all my hunting, and this tree stands back of Herbert Hammond's. It may not know it's there, but it looked healthy and had several chestnuts on it. I think he should protect it, and have Harold Barber, the State biologist, to find out if it is resistant to blight. It may be that it is, and that a new strain should be developed.

The old road where the men hauled lumber and railroad ties across the hill at the head of Vance Fork fifty years ago still exists. At the foot of the hill, the Whitcombs from Pennsylvania drilled an oil well 55 years ago, and oil ran down the branch to the school. I have always thought that there is oil somewhere in the area about the head of Vance Fork and the head of the Griffith Fork where Ed Holbrook owns a large boundary of land that once was owned by James Bailey, J. E. Whitt, J. H. Vance, Bill Griffith, Allison Hammond, Gus Vance, John Prater and others.

Going Back To Nature

No one lives in all this area now. Not a foot is being cultivated. The hills that once grew corn, oats, wheat and grass are growing in timber today.

Mrs. Stacy, who lives just above the Tom Phipps place on Caney, told me when I started up the branch that I would get lost.

It is good for anyone to revisit the scenes of their childhood--to walk where they walked as a child and to see where they worked and played and to remember those who grew up with them. I thought of Dave Allen's family, Roy and Loy and Myrtle and Harlan. I thought of the Salyers families, Kenos and Leonard and Arnie and Moss and the others. I thought of the Adams families.

HOMETOWN ARTIST

Rev. Hallie C. Howell is one of West Liberty's most versatile residents. He can preach a good sermon, sing, play a number of musical instruments, shoot home movies like a pro, and now we learn he is an artist. He painted (in oils) two Kentucky scenes for a Montgomery county man who was sketching for two annual frames he found at an auction. One of the pictures was a fishing scene and one a snow landscape. These were hung at Jesse and Jean's Dress Shop till this week when they were taken to Montgomery county. Still hanging at the dress shop are a small oil of a cottage scene at night and a large western landscape. Howell says he has never had an art lesson--thus he could be called a primitive painter--or, he added, a Grandpa Moses.

After we wrote about Rev. Howell and his oil paintings, we learned that Rev. Bruce Hullette, pastor of West Liberty Baptist church, enjoys painting too. Rev. Hullette has been doing sketches and pastels since high school days in Kingsport, Tenn.

Most of his paintings are done in pastel chalk or crayon. He prefers these mediums. Rev. Hullette said, because of the soft effect in the finished picture. He won a set of water color crayons with his scene of Cherokee Lake in Tennessee, done with oil crayons. After the oil-crayon color is applied, states Hullette, it is washed with turpentine to blend the colors. He also has done a reproduction of "The Fair Haired Boy" in chalk pastels, and scenes near his former home in Tennessee.

Hullette studied elementary art during his four years at Carson Newman college in Jefferson City, Tenn. He estimates that he has given away a hundred pictures.

One of his best works is a pencil sketch of an old time mail carrier talking with a farmer. He did this while in high school in Kingsport and won two pictures as first prize, which he said "was like the boy who won first prize in a pie-eating contest, and then was given a pie for his prize."

HUNTING & FISHING

LANDS 17 POUND BASS

Judge Reed Halsey landed a bass that weighed somewhere from five to seventeen pounds, according to Herbert Traynor who saw the head of the bass. Judge has been taking the head in the car with him for proof. It is thought that he ate the other part of the fish as it is well known that he can eat three or four pounds of fish.

Woodrow Salyers, TV technician here, said he killed two squirrels Monday morning. He asked him how? He said he went into the woods by the light of a flashlight and sat down between a beech and hickory and waited. He said the squirrels came to the trees. But where can we find a beech and a hickory by flashlight? Bob Patrick says it's so dry the squirrels can hear you pick up your gun and open the door.

COTTLE

ANOTHER LABOR DAY NOW HISTORY

COTTLE, Ky., Sept. 2.—(By Mrs. Sewell Hamilton)—Another "Labor Day" has made history. The words "Organized Labor" stand as a shrine to the memory of Peter J. McGuire, who at the age of twenty-nine saw the need of recognition of the working man and subsequently was the originator and founder of Labor Day, which became a National holiday by act of Congress June 28, 1887.

On the week end just passed, many people have enjoyed while some recreation and family get-togethers. On the other hand family ties have been severed and many homes have been shattered and broken, as the traffic toll took 445 lives. The death toll from all accidents was 636.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Hamilton spent their Labor Day vacation with their daughter, Mrs. Russell Black and family of Charleston, W. Va., and did a little sight seeing of Charleston.

Saturday afternoon they spent sometime at the airport where Mr. Black works. Planes from either Piedmont, Capital, American or Eastern Lines are landing almost momentarily, but the most spectacular was a plane operated by Capital Lines, and was part jet and part propeller type plane, which after leaving Charleston airport was scheduled to level in New York in 96 minutes.

Sunday afternoon they drove over a large area of Coonskin Park, which is the largest park in W. Va.

It covers hundreds of acres. There are dozens and dozens of picnic grounds, grills, shelter houses and etc., in this park. One of the most interesting sights was the riding range, consisting of 50 stables.

All the swings, rides and amusements of that type of course were free.

Mr. H. B. Cottle and children, who have been living in Dayton the past few weeks have returned for the opening of school.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hamilton and daughter Sharon of Dallas, Texas, came Sunday to visit his mother, Mrs. Minnie Elam and his brother, Sewell Hamilton and family.

They left Wednesday morning to visit relatives in Akron, Ohio, and were accompanied by his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kennard and children of Germantown, O., visited recently with Mrs. Alka Elam and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Elam here and with Mr. and Mrs. Finley Kennard at Matthew.

Mrs. Mary Lemaster was in West Liberty Tuesday.

Mrs. Wayne Lykins spent Saturday night with Mrs. Titus Fredrick at White Oak.

Mrs. Laura Williams had as guests over the week end Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Elam and children, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Williams and baby and James Williams all of Dayton, Ohio.

Shirley Patrick, who had been visiting her sister, Mrs. Herman Arnold in East Chicago this summer has returned and entered school.

CHEVROLET PICKUP CLIMBS

PIKES PEAK THE HARD WAY

...OFF THE ROAD!

An off-the-road run up Pikes Peak was called impossible by people who know the mountain well. But a production Chevrolet pickup actually did it ... to prove its pulling power and ruggedness!

Steep grade near timberline—a rugged test of power. The power and torque of Chevrolet's famous Thriftmaster 6 proved more than a match for the most difficult grades.

Miles of loose boulders and thinning air offer extra challenge. Yet the big Chevy engine never faltered; it performed flawlessly mile after mile, all the way up the mountain!

All the way to the top without using the road! Here the truck scales high boulder pile near the 14,110-foot summit.

Final effort achieves summit! Pickup conquers Pikes Peak ... shows why Chevrolet trucks are famous for staying and saving on tough jobs! Talk trucks with your Chevrolet dealer.

Feeder Cattle Prices Expected To Rise

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 4.—Kentucky Experiment Station economists expect prices for feeder cattle this fall to be $2 to $4 per hundredweight higher than for the same period of 1956.

Buel Lunpfer, economist in his bi-weekly outlook letter, said there is an increased demand for feeder cattle. This is due to large supplies of low-priced grain; and anticipated higher profits in 1957 cattle-feeding operations. He noted that up and down in prices most of 1957, with prices ranging $2 to $4 above a year ago.
